FROM THE RABBI

Debate in Cleveland

As I'm writing this column, the first Presidential debate is taking place – in Cleveland!

But why Cleveland? Experts tell me that we earned it because Ohio is a swing state and might decide the outcome of the election. Here, every vote counts.

We just celebrated the High Holiday season, where all our deeds are put on a scale. The Talmud tells us that a person always needs to have in mind that his or her next mitzvah can be the one that will tip the scale for themselves, and for the whole world to bring health, happiness and prosperity.

Here, every act counts.

- Rabbi Zushe Greenberg

PRESCHOOL

Sukkot

Our preschoolers are busy building their own little Sukkahs and learning about this fun holiday. They will have the opportunity to eat snack and lunch in the sukkah as well as do the LULAV & ETROG shake!

Simchat Torah

Each class will make their own little Torah or flag in honor of the Simchat Torah holiday. They will have their own dance party with the Torahs!

HEBREW SCHOOL

STEM Sukkah building

Hebrew School students on Zoom and in person are getting ready for Sukkot by having a STEM Sukkah building competition! The Sukkah had to be made of just newspaper, masking tape, cardboard and fresh greenery. It also needed to be free standing, and comply with the halachic requirements for a Kosher sukkah!

A High Holiday to Remember

We will always cherish the memories of prayers outdoors surrounded by nature. What an amazing and meaningful High Holiday experience.

Special thanks to those who generously made this possible.
