FROM THE RABBI

Vaccine for Anxiety?!

10% of Americans were infected by Covid-19 over the past year. In contrast, 47% of Americans experienced anxiety in 2020.

Now that we seem to have tackled Covid-19 with the vaccine rollout, perhaps it's time to ask Pfizer to work on an Anxiety Vaccine.

But Judaism offers a better prescription to handle anxiety. It's called "Beshert!" We often use the word "beshert" to mean "soulmate," but the literal translation from Yiddish is "destiny."

Chassidism teaches us that everything that happens is by Divine Providence and although we must try our hardest, ultimately, the outcome is in the hands of G-d, and He wants the best for us.

- Rabbi Zushe Greenberg

PRESCHOOL

Mom & Me Classes

Our outdoor mom and me classes are finally back. There are two groups that meet weekly, giving children ages 1 and 2 a chance to experience a preschool routine with the comfort of a parent on hand.

Baby classes have also begun for families with children newborn until 9 months, where moms enjoy the opportunity to talk with other mothers and learn parenting tricks through the wisdom of Judaism.

To join a class, contact miriam@solonchabad.com
