FROM THE RABBI

Recession?

Is America experiencing the beginning of a recession? It depends on who you ask!

The President argues that since there is a strong labor market, the economy is not in a recession.

This argument is best left to the professionals, but Judaism teaches us in Ethics of our Fathers, "The day is short and the work is vast...."

Each person is endowed by G-d with a special mission on earth; to make the world a more G-dly place. In this job market, the demand is huge; and as the Mishna writes "the Master is pressing," and one more thing – "the reward is great."

Let's get to work.

- Rabbi Zushe Greenberg
